On behalf of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, I would like to acknowledge Mrs. Anita Finger-Smith for her many contributions to the research of Cherokee genealogy. For several years, Mrs. Finger-Smith has provided a service to the families of Cherokee by comprising and sharing historical data and lineage documents.

Her research is thorough and verified by several sources. She works as a member of this community to fully understand, not only the documents, but the stories of our people as well as our neighbors throughout the Southeast.

The Eastern Band is grateful for the work that Mrs. Finger-Smith does with so much historical integrity and passion for the field of genealogy. Mrs. Finger-Smith is an asset to this community as well as those that are tied to us through our common history.

GEOGRAPHICAL BACKGROUND OF THE CHEROKEE

One could not possibly begin genealogically researching the Cherokee without having knowledge of the geographical location of the old Indian towns of the southeast. I have included a map of The Cherokee Country in Appendix A as a reference to the location of ancestral towns, forts, missions and other important sites.¹

Another widely overlooked phase of American History which had monumental impact on the Cherokee was the part played by the Southern Colonies in the French and Indian War (1755-1763), and by the Southern Indians who were at times disposed to join the French and at other times to co-operate with the English and Anglo-Americans. Much of this period is authentically described by Lieutenant Henry Timberlake in his memoirs (1756-1785) reflecting on his remarkable observations during his travels to and from the Cherokee Nation. Timberlake drew a map of the Overhill Settlement during March 1762, which is in present day east Tennessee. This map depicts nine old Cherokee Country towns, the number of fighting men each town sent to war and the names of headmen of each town. A replica of Timberlake's A Draught of the Cherokee Country can also be found in Appendix A.² Also located in Appendix A is a map of The Federal Road that indicates towns further south than the previous two maps. Next, included is a listing of the current counties that were located within the boundaries of the Old Cherokee Nation East.

Thirdly, many people are unaware of the significance of an historical atlas showing the ancestral home of the Cherokees, which also indicates the boundaries of the various tracts of land "purchased" from them by the Colonial or Federal authorities from time to time since their first contact with the European settlements. In Appendix A is a Map of the Former Territorial Limits of the Cherokee Nation of Indians exhibiting the boundaries of the various cessions of land made by them to the Colonies and to the United States by treaty stipulations from the beginning of their relation with the whites to the date of their removal west of the Mississippi River.³ Appendix A also includes a Numeric and Chronologic Schedule of Cherokee Land Cessions to the Royce Map of 1884.⁴ Lastly in Appendix A is a map of the 1838 Cherokee Removal Forts and the Cherokee Removal (1835 - 1839) detachments and the dates they left the old Nation East.

CHEROKEE ROLLS EAST OF THE MISSISSIPPI

The Cherokee Nation once occupied parts of eight eastern states (North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia) claiming 135,000 square miles. Though it is not commonly known, western migration of the Cherokee Nation commenced well before the removal in 1838. Because of mounting political pressure, the United States entered treaties with the Cherokee in 1817 and 1819 for the purpose of acquiring Cherokee land in the east. Out of these two treaties, the Cherokee had a choice of two alternatives. They could either enroll to move to the traded for land in north western Arkansas or they could file for a reservation of 640 acres in the east which would revert to the state upon their death or abandonment of the property.

- Reservation Rolls 1817: A listing of those desiring a 640 tract of land in the east, in lieu of removing to Arkansas, and permitted to reside there. Upon the death of the reserve, or the abandonment of the property, title was to revert to the state.
- Emigration Rolls 1817-1835: Those who filed to immigrate to Arkansas country, and then after the treaties in 1828, on to Oklahoma. These Cherokee became known as the Old Settlers after the Eastern Cherokee joined them in 1839.
- Henderson Roll 1835: A census of over 16,000 Cherokee residing in Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, and North Carolina to be removed to Oklahoma under the terms of the treaty of New Echota in 1835.
- Mullay Roll 1848: This was a census of 1,517 Cherokee people remaining in North Carolina after the removal of 1838. John C. Mullay took the census pursuant to an act of congress in 1848.
- Siler Roll 1851: A listing of some 1700 Eastern Cherokee entitled to a per capita payment pursuant an act of Congress in 1850.
- Chapman Roll 1852: Prepared by Albert Chapman as a listing of those Cherokee actually receiving payment based on the Siler census.

Swetland Roll 1869:

Prepared by S.H. Swetland as a listing of those Cherokee, and their descendents, who were listed as remaining in North Carolina by Mullaay in 1848. Made pursuant to an act of Congress (1868) for a removal payment authorization.

Hester Roll 1883:

Compiled by Joseph G. Hester as a roll of Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians in 1883. This roll is an excellent source of information, including ancestors, Chapman Roll number, age, English name and Indian name.

Churchill Roll 1908:

Compiled by Frank C. Churchill to certify members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. Like the Hester Roll, it includes a lot of information including degree of blood.

Guion Miller Roll 1909:

Compiled by Mr. Miller of all Eastern Cherokee residing either east or west of the Mississippi to be entitled to participate in a monetary award by the Court as a result of various treaty violations.

In order to participate one had to be alive on May 28, 1906 and establish themselves as a member of the Eastern Cherokee, or be a descendant of, at the time of the violated treaties. 48,847 separate applications were filed, representing some 90,000 individuals. Out of this number 3,436 Cherokee east of the Mississippi and 27,284 Cherokee west of the Mississippi, were certified by Mr. Miller as being eligible to participate in the award.

One lucky enough to find an ancestor on this roll can find out a tremendous amount of information. Not only is the roll detailed, but copies of the actual applications are available, which in most cases, go back to the early to mid 1800's.

Baker Roll 1924:

This was supposed to be the final roll of the Eastern Cherokee. The land was to be allotted and all were to become regular citizens. Fortunately the Eastern Cherokee avoided the termination procedures. The Baker Roll Revised is the current membership roll of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians in North Carolina.⁵

BAKER ROLL ~ 1924

The Baker Roll of 1924 is the basis for membership in the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. Original enrollees and their descendants born on or before August 21, 1957, possessing 1/32 degree Eastern Cherokee blood qualified for tribal membership provided they applied before August 14, 1963 and either they or their parents maintained and dwelt in a home on the Qualla Boundary sometime between June 4, 1924 and August 21, 1957, and were not enrolled as members of another tribe. A person born after August 21, 1957, or applying after August 14, 1963, was required to be 1/16 degree Eastern Cherokee blood.

The Revised Baker Roll serves as the current membership roll of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians of North Carolina. To be enrolled as a member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians it is necessary that you meet the requirements specified in Chapter 49, Enrollment Ordinance No. 284 established in the year of 1996, which are:

- 1) A direct lineal ancestor must appear on the 1924 Baker Roll.
- 2) You must possess at least 1/16 degree of Eastern Cherokee blood.

A child's eligibility for enrollment requires a computation of parental blood degrees. The recognized blood degree of each parent is added and then divided by two. To simplify the blood degree calculation I have included a Chart for Calculating Quantum of Indian Blood in Appendix B. It is imperative, when documenting Indian tribal membership, to include one's tribal affiliation and blood degree.⁷ Also in Appendix B is a Tribal Family Ancestry Chart which provides an easy way to document tribal data.⁸

Baker Roll Applications

There were 3,146 persons accepted by Mr. Fred A. Baker and the enrolling commission as members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. Persons not contested by Tribal Council on their existing rolls did not submit applications. Only those contested or never appearing on the rolls made application. There were 3891 applications of which 308 were accepted for membership. Reasons for rejection were, for the most part, lack of proof of Cherokee Blood or lack of Tribal association. There is an alphabetical listing of all persons completing applications in the Cherokee Roots Publication by Bob Blankenship.⁹ The applications show testimony and decision references which can be accessed for research. There are a few testimonies and decisions for which there was no application.

CHURCHILL ROLL ~ 1908

Area: North Carolina

Arrangement: By family group.

Information: Two rolls exist, one listing rejected applicants as well as those accepted. Entries provide individual's roll number, Hester and Council Roll numbers (if applicable), Indian name, English name, position in family, sex, age, degree of Indian blood, roll numbers of parents, residence, and often other information. Additional names were added by Churchill (many of which were rejected and omitted from the revised roll).

Background: This is a roll compiled by Inspector Frank C. Churchill to certify members of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians.

Availability: National Archives Microfilm Publication #M-208, Qualla Library, Cherokee, North Carolina, Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, North Carolina.

In 1906 sale of the Love Tract for $245,000 exacerbated an ongoing controversy over the proceeds of timber sales. Since the late 1890's revenues from timber sales had been deposited in an Asheville bank and later distributed in periodic payments to each enrolled member. Pressures to revise the Miller Roll continued to mount so the Indian Office was petitioned to send an agent to begin work on a new roll. Frank C. Churchill began work in November of 1907 and finished in early 1908. The roll totaled 2,115 when it was approved by the Indian Office in April 1913. The council challenged some 400 of these, prompting a series of hearings.

Principal Chief Nimrod Jarrett Smith attempted to raise tribal revenue by signing contracts with outsiders for cutting timber on Qualla Boundary. Clearly, the federal government exercised its authority in response to Smith's assertiveness and appointed a resident agent and appointed Joseph G. Hester to take a census of all Cherokee living east of the Mississippi River. Appendix B contains a picture and quote of Principal Chief, Nimrod Jarrett Smith.

On July 27, 1868, congress formally recognized the North Carolina Cherokees as a distinct tribe similar to other tribes having relations with the government; most importantly, it gave the Department of Interior supervision over their affairs. The act also specified preparation of a payment roll of the Eastern Cherokees by the Indian Office. Special Agent Silas H. Swetland was to prepare two rolls, one a revised list of those entitled to payments of interest under the 1848 act of Congress, and the second a census of all the Cherokees East, including information on their status. The payment list was basically a revision of the Mully Roll which enrolled 1,517 Cherokees. Predictably, there were protests from some Indians who objected to being left off the new list. Swetland added names to those he had already enrolled and to his other roll, the census, he listed 2,335 Cherokees in the Southeast.

In November 1851 Alfred Chapman was furloughed from his regular duties within the Indian Office to make nearly $198,000 in payments deserving to the Cherokees guaranteed under the 1835 and 1846 treaties. For a few years following this per capita payment, claimants who were rejected demanded that the Indian Office include them on the Siler Roll, but officials steadfastly insisted that the roll was final and payments had been completed. But nothing is ever final in a democracy, and in July 1854 Congress appropriated $5,000 to pay those Cherokees who had been left off the roll. This became known as the Act of Congress Roll of 1854 and is not on the microfilm publication with the other Eastern Cherokee Roll, therefore I have included it in Appendix B for the researchers use.¹⁶

On the Siler census he noted members as being Indian, White or Mixed. If there is nothing besides their names on the transcription, they were listed as Indian on the original census. If a White man or woman was married to a Cherokee prior to the Treaty of 1835 they are listed with their family on this roll.

EMIGRATION ROLLS ~ 1817-1835

Area: Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee

Arrangement: Generally chronological.

★ Information: List of Cherokee Indians wishing to emigrate, rolls of actual emigrants, muster rolls of conducted parties, and lists of emigrants able to emigrate by themselves. Some rolls are signed by the Cherokees and constitute relinquishments of their lands in the East. Information concerning valuation of property, debts of Indians, and other subjects is sometimes included. Usually only heads of families are listed, but often there is some information concerning the other members of the family. There are alphabetical lists for some rolls.

Background: These lists of Cherokees who voluntarily enrolled themselves as emigrants to the Arkansas Country relinquished all rights, titles and claims to lands within the limits of the Cherokee Nation east of the Mississippi River. This group is also known as the "Old Settlers".

Availability: National Archives Microfilm Publication #T-496, Qualla Library, Cherokee, North Carolina, Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, North Carolina, Transcription by David Keith Hampton & Jack Baker. An Emigration Roll Index can be found in Appendix B.

We whose names are herewith subscribed do acknowledge that we have voluntarily enrolled ourselves as emigrants for the Arkansas Country under the treaty made between the United States and the Cherokees of Arkansas on the 6th day of May 1828 and do hereby relinquish to the United States all right and claim to our lands on the East for lands on the West of the river Mississippi, the United States agreeing to pay us for our improvements and transport us to that country, furnish us provisions by the way and for one year after our arrival, and give each settler a rifle gun and the other articles agreeably to the provisions of said Treaty.

RESERVATION ROLL ~ 1817

Area: Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee

Arrangement: Chronological by date of registration.

Information: Date of registration, number of reservation, name, number in family, place of residence, and remarks.

Background: The United States government sought to extinguish title to certain Cherokee lands in the east by offering two options. One allowed for the Cherokees to move to Arkansas. Those not wishing to move could file for a reservation of 640 acres which would revert to the state upon the death or abandonment of the grantee.

ADDITIONAL ACCOUNTS OF THE CHEROKEE IN THE SOUTHEAST

GEORGIA - All the land in the Cherokee Nation was surveyed and divided in 1831-1832. The surveyors who came into the Cherokee Nation were instructed to identify Cherokee houses, buildings, cleared land, fruit trees and improvements such as fish traps, mills, stores and ferries. The information regarding plats, maps, etc. is filed in the Georgia Surveyor General Department of the Office of the Secretary of State. The collection is housed in the Department of Archives and History in Atlanta, Georgia. The lots and maps are transcribed by Charles O. Walker in his Cherokee Footprints, Vol. II, Jasper, Georgia.

SOUTH CAROLINA - South Carolina established formalized, regulated Indian trading as early as 1707. Journals were maintained on this trade, and South Carolina published the Journals of the Commissioners of the Indian Trade 1710-1718; Documents Relating to Indian Affairs 1750-1754; and Documents Relating to Indian Affairs 1754-1765. These journals contain fascinating accounts of Indian traders, commerce, militiamen, wars, treaties, relations, white settlers among Indians, and other information important to genealogists and historians. They are available for review at the South Carolina archives.

TENNESSEE - Records of the Cherokee Indian Agency in Tennessee, is a collection of 14 rolls of microfilm No. 208 that are part of Record Group 75, Bureau of Indian Affairs. This collection contains records of the agency, including its correspondence with officials, private individuals, and chiefs and other members of the Cherokee tribe. Subjects discussed include economic and social conditions, trade and travel, work of missionaries, friction between whites and Cherokee and within the tribe, the treaty of July 8, 1917, and the Cherokee migration westward. This collection has been transcribed by Marybelle W. Chase.

NORTH CAROLINA - The Archives at the museum of the Cherokee Indian has become a major research center on the Cherokee. It contains: four thousand books (some quite old and rare), one thousand black and white photographs from the 1880's and 1930's, manuscript materials c. 1830—present, William H. Thomas Collection--papers and diaries from 1834—1899, nine hundred reels of microfilm of documents from foreign archives, some original material in the Cherokee syllabary.

This is by all means not all of the additional accounts of the Cherokee in the Southeast - the bibliography in Appendix C has an enormous amount of excellent resources.

APPENDIX ~ A

MAPS

"The Winter Trade" --- by Robert Griffling

During this period, the Cherokee economy was based on barter, not cash, with deerkins and bushels of corn traded for British manufactured items. But on rare occasions, coins were found at 18th-Century Cherokee sites. A 1743 half penny was discovered in a refuse pit at Tennessee and bears the likeness of King George II.

An agreement between South Carolina and the Cherokee towns circa 1777 established trade

1 pistol: 50 deerkins or 120 bushels of corn
1 calico petticoat: 14 deerkins or 34 bushels of corn
1 broad hat: 8 deerkins or 20 bushels of corn
1 hatchet: 3 deerkins

Total Number Emigrated		-16349
Difference		-148

The 158 decrease in additions and desertions between detachments is likely the deaths not listed by Chuwaluka, George Hicks, and Peter Hilderbrand for their detachments. This would indicate total deaths of 1191 (1033 + 158) during the removal time. Additional deaths would have occurred after arrival in the West. The 1851 Drennan Roll lists 14098 Cherokees. Compared with the 15584 who arrived in 1839 indicates additional deaths of about 1500 people.

APPENDIX ~ C BIBLIOGRAPHY OF CHEROKEE RESOURCES

CHEROKEE GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH
EAST OF THE MISSISSIPPI

In The Words Of Timberlake:

On fertile ground: "The country is temperate, inclining to heat during the summer season, and so remarkably fertile that the women alone do all the laborious tasks of agriculture, the soil requiring only a little stirring with a hoe, to produce whatever is required of it."

On summer and winter houses: "The Indians being all soldiers, mechanism can make but little progress; besides this, they labor under the disadvantage of having neither proper tools, or persons, to teach the use of those they have. Thus, for want of saws, they are obliged to cut a large tree on each side, with great labor, to make a very clumsy board; whereas a pair of sawyers would divide the same tree into eight or ten in much less time; considering this disadvantage, their modern houses are tolerably well built."

On Cherokee houses: "A number of thick posts is fixed in the ground, according to the plan and dimensions of the house, which rarely exceeds sixteen feet in breadth, on account of the roofing, but often extended to sixty or seventy in length, beside the little hot-house. Between each of these posts is placed a smaller one, and the whole wattled with twigs like a basket, which is then covered with clay very smooth, and sometimes whitewashed. Instead of tiles, they cover them with narrow boards. Some of these houses are two story high, tolerably pretty and capacious; but most of them very inconvenient for want of chimneys, a small hole being all the vent assigned in many for the smoke to get out at."

The Tennessee-Kentucky boundary, intended to be 36°30', was run too far north in 1779-1780 by Virginia surveyors. Kentucky finally accepted this erroneous Walker Line in early 1820, but significant parts of the boundary remained uncertain until a resurvey completed in 1859. Some settlers in the disputed strip were uncertain in which state they lived, though Tennessee exercised jurisdiction over much more of the strip than Kentucky ever did. By contrast, the Tennessee-Kentucky line west of the Tennessee River was surveyed in 1819 essentially on 36°30'.

NOTES:

The Territory South of the Ohio River, popularly called the Southwest Territory, was created in May 1790.

By direction of the territorial governor, militia captains took a census in July 1791. The county lines were unchanged from 1790.

Tennessee County's name was dropped after its division into Montgomery and Robertson in 1796.

NOTES:
The U.S. in 1790 disputed Spain's control over the Tombigbee settlements in present-day southwestern Alabama north of 31° but took no 1790 census there.
Mississippi Territory was created in 1798.
Washington County is shown only within the area ceded by Indians.

*NOTES:

Orleans Territory was created in 1804 and was distinct from the Louisiana Territory of 1805-1812 in present-day Missouri and Arkansas.

Louisiana's present western boundary north of the Sabine River was not set until 1811, prior to which Orleans Territory lay south of 33° extending to the western limit of the Louisiana Purchase. Spain disputed this interpretation. This area now in Texas was outside the census of 1810.

Quachita was also spelled Washita.

Land boundaries shown as dashed lines are uncertain due to poorly defined ecclesiastical jurisdictions and imprecise surveys.

See Texas 1820-1830 (p.326) for an explanation of the Neutral Ground.

AS ORLEANS TERRITORY

NOTES:
Settled white population, aside from forts and trading posts, had not reached present-day Oklahoma by 1820 except along the Red River in Miller County. The Red River settlements lay in the present-day counties of Little River (Arkansas), Choctaw and McCurtain (Oklahoma), and Bowie and Red River (Texas). Phantom 1820 due-west lines extending Pulaski, Clark, and Miller to the modern Texas panhandle are not shown here.

For an explanation of Arkansas's old Miller County, see Texas 1820-1830 (p.326). Miller vanished north of the Red River when the Indian line was established in 1828 at the present Oklahoma-Arkansas border, forcing the removal of the white settlers from southeastern Oklahoma. Therefore, Miller's 1830 census did not include southeastern Oklahoma.

Federal census lost for all counties.
